Listed below are additional elements of Blue Yonder tax strategy affecting UK taxation.

Transparency and Ethical Behaviour

Blue Yonder is committed to the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development’s (“OECD’s”) initiatives on tax transparency, including the principles of recognising income and paying taxes in the countries where activities are undertaken.

Blue Yonder complies with all tax laws and regulations, reporting and disclosure requirements in a timely fashion, and we maintain candid and transparent relationships with tax authorities globally based on regular collaboration. Blue Yonder recognizes that tax situations can be very complex and making the right decisions requires careful consideration of many factors.

Risk Management and Governance

Blue Yonder's board of directors provide oversight of Blue Yonder's risk management process. The board executes its risk oversight function directly and through delegation to its key committees.

While the board and its committees oversee risk management, the tax department for the Blue Yonder Group is charged with day-to-day management of UK tax risk. Blue Yonder maintains internal policies and procedures to support its tax control framework and provides training to its personnel to manage UK tax risk.

Blue Yonder's Group Vice-President and Head of Tax manages global tax risks for Blue Yonder. Blue Yonder's tax department works with local management to identify and manage UK tax risks using its knowledge of Blue Yonder's operations and UK tax legislation. They do this by, for example:

- (i) regularly communicating with finance staff to keep informed of any significant business changes;
- (ii) monitoring proposed changes in UK tax legislation to identify its potential impact;
- (iii) regularly communicating with Global management staff to keep informed of any significant business changes that could affect UK tax planning.

Tax Planning

Blue Yonder engages in appropriate tax planning that supports its business and reflects commercial and economic activities of its global organisation. Blue Yonder does not engage in aggressive tax arrangements, the sole purpose of which would be to obtain a tax advantage. Blue Yonder does have a responsibility to minimise its tax risk and potential damage to its reputation and brand.

Blue Yonder complies with all tax rules and regulations on a worldwide basis and continuously monitors changes in tax legislation that may affect its operations.

Blue Yonder believes it is important to plan its business operations so that Blue Yonder complies with UK and foreign tax obligations. Blue Yonder considers the tax consequences of significant transactions before carrying them out and its tax department decides when to consult external advisors on the tax implications of a potential transaction, with the depth of such advice being driven by the assessment of risk presented by each transaction.

Tax Risk

Blue Yonder's tax arrangements are based on its commercial business and economic activities. Blue Yonder is a global organization and recognizes that there is inherent risk related to taxation due to:

- (i) the complexity of taxes in each country;
- (ii) the scope of disagreement over the interpretation of laws meaning that tax authorities may take a different view of the application of legislation;

- (iii) the variety and volume of different taxes that affect Blue Yonder's activities in many different countries. Blue Yonder monitor's and reviews its operations in the UK and elsewhere to realign its tax arrangements when necessary to be compliant with the tax rules and regulations.

Relationship with Her Majesty's Revenue & Customs (HMRC)

Blue Yonder is committed to the principles of openness and transparency with tax authorities and adopts a proactive approach to raising tax issues and working collaboratively with local tax authorities wherever possible.

Blue Yonder seeks to comply with its tax filing responsibilities, reporting requirements and tax payment obligations to minimize the risk of disputes with HMRC and damage to its credibility. Blue Yonder aims to build and sustain relationships with local tax authorities that are constructive and based on the principles of cooperation and compliance.
