

Blue Yonder Training Courseware

Personalize your Training with Customizable Content

In today's highly specialized world, each customer need is unique and nuanced. You want to ensure your training meets your needs and captures how you operate. Blue Yonder customers can purchase training materials, courseware, through Education Services at any time.

Our base training includes successful practices and describes business process, but customer's may have education objectives that fall outside those standard practices and processes. Blue Yonder experts collaborate with customers to develop content and incorporate custom objectives into the standard training. This gives our customers a training program that completely aligns with their organization's distinctive processes and unique business requirements.

Since customers own the courseware, they control the return on investment. The materials can be repurposed for go-live, new hire and refresher training and can be distributed throughout the organization as appropriate. It is a preferred path to a customer taking on the responsibility for delivering training across multiple phases and roll outs.

Key features

- Customize training with editable electronic format license of Blue Yonder curriculum
- Enables printing, re-purposing, or distributing throughout the organization
- Includes digital manual materials and SCORM files necessary for LMS deployments

Key benefits

- Modify rather than create training materials saving time building the program needed
- Share the updated content on existing platforms such as an LMS to enable greater number of users access to the specific training
- Distribute source documents throughout the organization for offline reference

To learn more about Blue Yonder trainings and offerings please contact us at training@blueyonder.com or visit training.blueyonder.com

